We are committed to providing exceptional service to our members which is why we take any complaint we receive seriously. You can make your complaint by telephone, letter or email. You may also complain to the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (details are below).

Internal Complaint Resolution process

External Complaint Body

You may complain directly to the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA), who will refer your complaint back to us to respond, if you have not complained to us first.

If you're not satisfied with the outcome of your complaint, or we have not resolved your complaint within the maximum timeframe you can complain to the AFCA. AFCA is a fair and independent body that can assist you further with resolving your complaint at no cost to you.

There are some time limits for lodging certain complaints. For instance, complaints about the payment of a death benefit, must be lodged with AFCA within 28 days from the date of receiving notice of the Trustee's decision. You may wish to contact AFCA for more information about their time limits.
